one month into grad school reflections:

ive said it before and im going to say it again. pretty much everything they teach you in chemistry is a lie. and even when they reveal the truth to you, its never the complete truth. it's actually hella amusing.

zionism in chemistry, and especially physical chemistry, is ubiquitous and totally unchallenged. pray that allah swt gives me the patience to deal with this shit. fuck israel. fuck dod grants. and fuck military technological "advances".
